

Oleaceae
Notelaea lloydii
 Vulnerable lloyd's mock-olive

ALA Local Natives

Ann Moran
Field Botanist

Tim Albers iNat

messy_jessy iNat

Stephen Csurhes iNat

ETYMOLOGY	(no-tel-EE-a) Greek notos= south + elaia = olive; The species lloydii = After Lloyd H Bird (died Sept 2009), botanical collector;
LIFEFORM	Shrub 3-4 m x 4-6 m Spread
STATUS	Vulnerable under Nature Conservation Act Qld and EPBC Act; When first found, only 20 individuals were known to exist, in a small section of the road reserve near Ipswich.
QLD DISTRICT	Moreton only
OCCURS	Beaudesert, Boonah SE Q
HABITAT	Dry Rainforest
LEAVES	Opposite, 5-15cm x 2-7mm, linear slightly sickle-shaped, less distinct venation, not obviously raised above. Secondary venation less than 90° to the midvein decussate on 1-2 mm finely hairy stalks;
FLOWERS	White or cream 3 mm flowers on 1cm raceme 1 or 2 per axil; Flowering times June, July, Aug
FRUIT	Drupes, 6-8 x 5-8 cm, globular hard, bunches woody nuts, with thin dark blue skin; Fruiting times Oct, Nov, Dec
BARK	Smooth, pale grey bark
TRUNK or STEM	Multi-stemmed shrub, twiggy branches; regenerate from an underground lignotuber.
INSECTS	Psilogamma menephron (Moth) Froggattia olivinia (Olive Lace Bug)
BIRD	Fruit eating birds.
BUTTERFLY	Netrocoryne repanda bronze flat
LOCATIONS	Now discovered in 13 different locations: Banks of Brisbane River Karana Downs, End of Bunya St off Mt Crosby Rd, Dinmore, Redbank Plains near Rhonda Colliery, Tymolum Bunya SW of Laidley Newmans Lookout.